FARM AND STOCK NOTES.

France has contracted with a firm at Dallas, Texas, for 20,000 horses. The price to be paid is $1,600,000.

James Duncan of Little Rock, delivered to C. S. Brent & Co., in Paris, Saturday, a drove of 900 turkeys.

At St. Edwards, Neb., the Rapp Bros. sold 63 head of shorthorns averaged $141. The top price was $450 for Fox Favorite, a Scotch bull of merit.

It is estimated that 1,000,000 horses are being used in the European conflict, and if the war is prolonged, the demand for horses in the United States will be very strong. Such being the case, the price of horses the world over will be high.

At four recent public sales of Holsteins held in the east, the following averages were made: At Lacon, N. Y., 17 head averaged $160; at Orono, N. Y., 16 head averaged $255; at Littleton, Mass., 16 head averaged $276; at Liverpool, N. Y., 18 head averaged $223.

The United States government, becoming aware that the country is rapidly being stripped of available horses, has also entered the market, and has asked for bids from Kentucky dealers for a class of horses not older than 3½ years, for shipment to Port Royal, Va., for immediate use in the United States cavalry service. These horses are estimated to have an active cavalry service for six years.

Not one of the show cattle isolated at Dexter Park, National Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill., will be killed with the consent of the Illinois authorities. Not one of the 800 cattle placed under quarantine will die of the disease. The cow which was first infected is entirely well. The big, three-year-old Ayrshire bull which developed a most typical case is now so far on the road to complete recovery that he eats, drinks and romps in fine fettle.

A dispatch from New Orleans, La., says:

"With the receipt of an order here for 30,000 more horses for use by the French, British and Russian armies, and a subsequent call by the local handlers of the order for more horses from Chicago, Kansas City, St. Paul, Louisville, and other western horse centers, came the news that there was likelihood of a serious horse famine in the United States if the allies kept on demanding horses instead of mules.

"Word received here from the big horse dealing establishments of St. Louis and Kansas City said that the latest order would be filled with difficulty, as horses would have to be gathered in all parts of the north and west to make up such a large shipment. At present the dealers are working on a contract for 10,000 horses which has not yet been filled.

"It is claimed that the demands of the allies will take up all of the finest kind of horseflesh, since the stock is selected with great care and re-examined after they get here. Horse dealers remember that when England bought so many mules here for the Boer war that big mules became scarce, and that smaller mules had to be used for some years."

RECOMMENDS INCREASE OF U. S. ARMY TO 500,000 MEN.

Washington.—Declaring it would be impossible to defend the Panama canal and American territorial possessions against attack with present or proposed garrisons unless they could be rapidly reinforced, Major General Wetherston, retired chief-of-staff, in his report recommended the increase of the regular army to a strength of 205,000 enlisted men. He proposed that that force be augmented, through a system of reserves, until there was created a mobile strength of 500,000 first line troops equipped for a six-months' campaign.

New Richmond, Ohio.—Notification is reported to have been received by contractors building the dam below town to get the work in shape where it can be protected during the winter season from ice and other damage. This is taken to indicate that the work will be shut down shortly until spring, when it will again be rushed toward completion. The contractors think they have made satisfactory headway during the open season.

SHALL THE HIRED GIRL EAT WITH THE FAMILY OR IN THE KITCHEN.

In the December American Magazine George Fitch, the Illinois humorist, writes an amusing article about the servant question in small towns. The title of his article is "The Servant Question in Homeburg." He says that in Homeburg only one family, that of Mrs. Singer, has any servants. The rest have hired girls. On the question as to whether the hired girl should eat with the family, Mr. Fitch writes:

"About the hired girl problem we have is the following: 'Shall the girl eat with the family or in the kitchen?' Mrs. Singer wished that on us. Ten years ago there was no question at all. The girl ate with the family, and waited on the table when something was needed which couldn't be reached. Then Mrs. Singer came to town and made her eat in the kitchen, since which time the question has raged with more or less fury and the whole town has chosen up sides on it. Half of us want the girl to eat in the kitchen, and the other half have her at the table.

"As for the girls, they are divided, too. Half of the girls who come to see about places ask us, 'Do I have to eat in the kitchen?' and the other half say, 'Do I have to eat with the family?' And of course it's just our luck that the people who wish to dine by themselves never can find girls who prefer the kitchen, and the people who insist on associating with their help usually lose them because said help has been spoiled somewhere else."

LONG RANGE GUNS.

(Wall Street Journal.)

Before many months have elapsed Germany and Great Britain may be using a heavy long-range gun invented by an American. Shortly before the war broke out in Europe this gun was nearing perfection. The American inventor was being assisted in his work by a German expert who was at once called to the colors. It is believed that this German took with him all the plans necessary to manufacture the gun invented by the American, and it is also claimed that Great Britain has secured all the rights to produce this modern weapon of warfare. It is claimed that the gun has a longer range than any now in use and can fire a projectile as large as that used by the destructive German howitzer. The gun is a smooth bore, and not being rifled, has a much longer life than any now being used in the European war. The secret of the gun is that it fires a revolving shell from a smooth bore.

WON'T MIX

Bad Food and Good Health Won't Mix.

The human stomach stands much abuse but it won't return good health if you give it bad food.

If you feed right you should feel right, for proper food and a good mind is the sure road to health.

"A year ago I became much alarmed about my health for I began to suffer after each meal no matter how little I ate," says a Denver woman.

"I lost my appetite, and the very thought of food grew distasteful, with the result that I was not nourished and got weak and thin.

"My home cares were very heavy, for beside a large family of my own I have also to look out for an aged mother. There was no one to shoulder my household burdens, and come what might, I must bear them, and this I thought nearly drove me frantic when I realized that my health was breaking down.

"I read an article in the paper about some one with trouble like mine being helped by Grape-Nuts food and acting on this suggestion I gave Grape-Nuts a trial. The first dish of this delicious food proved that I had struck the right thing.

"My uncomfortable feelings in stomach disappeared as if by magic and in an incredibly short space of time I was again myself. Since then I have gained 12 pounds in weight through a summer of hard work and realize I am a very different woman, all due to the splendid food, Grape-Nuts." A single man imagines that it is easy to fool a woman. But later on he learns that the only time he ever fooled his wife was when he married her.

Every man knows that if he had a million dollars, he would give $100,000 of it to Charity. But he never thinks of kicking in with a dime out of that $10 bill he has in his pocket.
